Don't Let The Horn Worms Destroy Your Tobacco.

A New Preventive!

The hand-picking of tobacco worms is a thing of the past, if the claims of the "N. S. J." Co., Richmond, Va., be true and their claims seem to be well substantiated.

Not only is the labor and worry saved but the farmer gets a greater number of pounds of tobacco and a better quality by the use of "N. S. J." Nicotars is a insect saved 10% after.

The proprietors propose to GIVE FREE or cost, under certain and reasonable conditions, several hundred boxes of the compound (each box enough for one acre), and tobacco growers would do well to write the Company at once for particulars.

Many persons will recall Mrs. Zoe, who was with a circus here some years ago. She was found in a cistern and shot out into a net. She also rode down a slanting tight rope holding by her teeth to a handkerchief attached to a pulley that ran over the wire. At Clinton, Mo., on last Wednesday, Mrs. Zoe, whose real name was Francis Thurman, attempted to ride down an 800-foot wire from the top of a 70-foot tower to an island in the bay, but the tower gave way and she fell into the bay and was drowned.

They were tried in the Police Court Monday morning and fined $2.00 and costs each. Beware, gamblers, for the police are after all of you.

The Handsomest in Kentucky.

Contractor Dozier on Monday completed the erection of the massive stone posts and gates of the cemetery. There is nothing in the State so elegant as they are. The old stone pillars and four tombs from iron gates. Now let the curved drive through the dense beech grove follow at once, and Richmond will have by odds the most elaborate cemetery, site of town considered, in the State.

A. T. MILLON.

County Supt.

Prof. Charles R. Pepper.

Mr. Charles R. Pepper has been engaged to teach Greek and German in Central University, Richmond Ky., next year. We congratulate Mr. Pepper, but deplore his loss to King College. Mr. Pepper is a thoroughly educated gentleman who has made his mark in every scholastic relation. At King college as a student, at the University of Virginia as a teacher, he has been a man. We hope that the change will be for his good; we know that it will be almost impossible for King college to replace him—Bristol, Tenn., Courier.

Varies Out, While In.

Emmett Varies will soon remove his stock of clothing to Monterey, Owen county, whither his brother William has already gone.

W. G. White will in September remove his drugstore from Second street to the house on Main street to be vacated by Mr. Varies. Dr. White embarked in the drug business as one of the firm of Ballard, Francis & White, in this same house in 1875, the year in which he came to Richmond from Lexington. His business has increased beyond the limits of his present quarters.

The Cream and Crismon.

The Cream and Crismon, the College Annual, published by the Senior Class at Central University, is now ready for the buyers. It is highly ornamental and contains a history of each class, and about fifty full-page cuts of prominent college men. Contains one hundred and twenty-five pages. The price of this volume is one dollar. Every alumnus and every friend of the college should have one.

For further information address J. R. Riggs, Editor and Manager, Richmond, Ky.

Changes Among The Butchers.

Last week, the CLIMAX announced that C. B. Engelman & Co., had sold an interest in their butcher shop at L. & N. depot, this place, to Alvah Pullens, for Garard, and that he would remove to Richmond in a few days.

Mention should have been made that Perry & Broadbent, the butcher, had sold their business on the same street near postoffice.

Also that H. Buchgrann, of Lexington, had bought the business of Miller & Francis, Main street, near First. The new proprietor will bring his family, and open the shop on next Saturday. He is an experienced meat.

Died in Lexington.

Dr. J. L. Harris, dentist, whose office was in the brick building on Main street in Richmond, died at Lexington on Wednesday, August 6, 1896, after a brief illness. Remains were brought to Richmond and buried in the cemetery. He had a fair practice, and but for his ill health would have succeeded admirably. He leaves a widow, nee Henry, and two children, who have gone to Crittenden, Grant county, to reside. Dr. Harris was 29 years old, a native of Virginia, was educated at Central University, and a graduate of both the medical and dental departments of that school.

Water Melons at Waco.

A German scientist went to Iceland and spent a year investigating the owls of that far-away cold region. He then went home and wrote a book entitled "Owls in Iceland." The closing sentence of his book was, "There are no owls in Iceland."

A Waco resident was in Richmond, one day last week, and said in substance "there are no water melons at Waco." At least there are only a few comparatively speaking, and the few are not the best ever seen by a bluenose.

Some Editors Not as Smart as Mosquitoes.

Once upon a time, we spent a night at Livingston. A young doctor from Kingston, a rather small, thin man, was also a guest of Mrs. Mullins' room. A large fat man, called the same room, as the doctor, at breakfast the fat man complained that the mosquitoes "nearly eat him up." The light-weight doctor remarked with some surprise that the mosquitoes didn't trouble him. "Why, doctor," "sketchers" got sense—they know who to bite!" exclaimed Mrs. Mullins.

Reunion First Kentucky Cavalry.

The surviving members of Wolford's, or the First Kentucky Cavalry, are most cordially invited to meet in reunion at Somerset Ky., August 25th. There will be plenty to eat, fine music, song, stirring speeches, and a good time generally. All the old soldiers, both Federal and Confederate, of other regiments in this and adjoining counties are also most cordially invited.

It is to be hoped that all the old veterans of the First Kentucky will make it a point to be present as matters of far reaching importance will be discussed and among other things a society formed for the collection and preservation of historical data. All Kentucky papers who kindly remember this grand old regiment will please give notice of meeting, and attend the reunion.

Removed From Rockford to Los Angeles.

A Chicago "Assault" man has been removed from Rockford to Los Angeles. "It is related by several of those who have recently deserted the so-called 'Heaven' at Rockford that George Jacob Schweinfurth has left Mount Zion for good and all, with the intention of locating on property in California. He left the settlement a month ago and it was said he would return shortly, but several of the favorites among his followers have joined him. Mrs. A. I. Tuttle and her two celebrated children, claimed to be born of the Holy Ghost, Miss Schweinfurth, said to be the leader of the Church Triumphant; Albert Todd, the general factotum and valet, and two private watchmen of the bogus Christ. Sadie Freeman, one of the 'angels,' has purchased a location 25 miles south of Los Angeles, which it is said will be the seat of the colony."
